PROPERTY DESCRIPTIONS

SARUNI RHINO

This unique, 4 “bandas” (stone cottages) camp is located in the large and remote Sera Conservancy, in the wild, undiscovered northern frontier of Kenya. It is little over 1.5 hours’ drive from our Saruni Samburu lodge in nearby Kalama Conservancy. It is unique not only for the unforgettable, raw beauty of its habitat, but because, as the name says, it is the gateway to an extraordinary place: the rhino sanctuary where black and white rhinos have been successfully re-introduced and are guarded by the community.

The camp offers several diverse experiences. One is the first on-foot rhino tracking experience in East Africa. This incredible walking safari provides a thrilling adventure and the opportunity for guests to actively contribute to the protection of this iconic species. But it is not all about the rhinos. Herds of elephants populate this vast landscape, there is amazing birdwatching, and cultural experiences with the “singing wells”.

Northern Kenya is a largely unexplored and uninhabited expanse of wild beauty rich in colour and experiences. Every day, the sun seems to be smiling down on this part of the country with sights, sounds and sceneries that are of unmatched brilliance.
