

Getting To And Departing From Your Brave Africa Mobile Safari

All transfers between Brave Africa camps, as well as to and from the nearest airstrip, are included in your mobile safari cost. However, you will need to arrive at your first camp with Brave Africa, and there are two ways to do this: a bush flight (recommended) and a road transfer (not recommended and available on a case-by-case basis).

BUSH FLIGHTS (THIRD PARTY)

We recommend a bush flight to start and end your safari with Brave Africa. Our preferred bush flight operator is Mack Air. They are the most widely used bush flight operator in the Okavango Delta with a strong safety record. The prices for the bush flights are all-inclusive and include departure and landing fees at each airstrip. Estimated 2027 costs are as follows:

	2027 Price Per Person (USD)
Bush flight that starts or ends at Kasane Airport	$590
Bush flight that starts or ends at Maun Airport	$360

ROAD TRANSFERS

Road transfers to begin and end a Brave Africa safari are possible, but they are not recommended. We do not consider your safari with Brave Africa to start until you arrive at camp. Road transfers are available on a case-by-case basis (flood and weather dependent). A road transfer from Kasane to Savuti takes approximately 4 hours, and from Khwai/Moremi to Maun is approximately 3 hours. The road conditions are uncomfortable, and game-viewing is limited.

	2027 Price Per Person (USD)
4-hour road transfer between Kasane Airport – Savuti Camp	$350
3-hour road transfer between Maun Airport – Moremi or Khwai Camp	$225

ADDITIONAL TRANSFER INFORMATION

If you are transferring to Brave Africa from another camp/lodge, already in the bush, bush flight costs and road transfer options may be different. Please reach out to us directly to see what is possible.
