Bringing Ancient Wisdom to Today's World, Africology makes use of the healing essences of some of South Africa's indigenous plants, Rooibos, Aloe Ferox, Marula and African Potato. The active ingredients in our skin care products are valuable in the repair process and assist with the restoration of damaged skin tissue. We select actives that bring balance and harmony to the skin.

To maintain skin health & balance, we preserve the living essence of the plants naturally. We allow nature to fragrance our products naturally, lulling the senses and creating a relaxed state of mind. By formulating holistically we are able to assist the body and skin on a continuing basis without any of the harmful or aging effects of chemicals.

We acknowledge that all repair and preventative processes start with the self. Our skin is an expression of our hearts and minds. What we put on the outside can be seen as a process of assistance, while we take care of our inner world.
