BROCHURE

Discover Watamu: A Coastal Sanctuary within a Protected Marine Park

With beachfront rooms overlooking the Indian Ocean, Hemingways Watamu places the protected marine park right on your doorstep.

Wake up to the sound of the sea, snorkel over coral reefs just offshore, or sail through mangrove creeks at sunset. Set against a backdrop of white sands and swaying palms, Watamu blends natural beauty, warm hospitality and laid-back charm, inviting you to slow down, explore, and connect with Kenya's coast at its most unspoilt.

WINDS & SEA CONDITIONS

Watamu enjoys a warm, tropical climate year-round, with consistently pleasant sea temperatures (25–29°C) and reliable beach conditions.

The coastal winds shape much of the experience: the Kaskazi (November–March) brings warm, dry days and calm seas, perfect for snorkelling, dhow trips, dolphin spotting, paddleboarding and relaxed swims. From May to October, the Kusi delivers cooler breezes that create ideal conditions for sailing, windsurfing and kitesurfing, while still ensuring comfortable beach time.

Sheltered reef and creek areas provide calm waters throughout the year, making Watamu a dependable destination for both adventure on the water and tranquil escapes by the shore.
