COLLECTION

Camps & Lodges in Harmony with Africa

The Elewana Collection of 16 boutique lodges, camps and hotels is known for its unique accommodations in iconic locations across Kenya and Tanzania. Elewana crafts authentic and memorable safari experiences, providing the highest quality of luxury and comfort. Warm and genuine East African hospitality characterises a safari with Elewana, where guests are indulged with a luxurious and personalised stay.

The origin of the name Elewana is the Swahili word meaning “harmony”, a concept that underpins our company philosophy and influences the way we deliver unforgettable safari experiences. We continually strive to leave as little impact as possible on our surrounding environment, while creating a positive impact on local communities through our Land and Life Foundation.

The Land & Life Foundation is Elewana's commitment to responsible tourism, ensuring future generations can enjoy the wonders of Africa and safari adventure. Land & Life believes that the sustainability of East Africa's wildlife and habitats depends on four key actions: securing land for conservation, protecting species and their environment, providing tangible benefits to the people who live alongside wildlife, and educating the next generation of conservationists. Land & Life achieves this through four core programs - Wildlife Warrior Program, School Support, Medical Support and Nature Conservation Program.

Unique Selling Points

THE ELEWANA COLLECTION

Luxury is defined by that which is hardest to attain. In our busy world, this is often quite simply time with your family, an opportunity to relax and unwind and - most of all - the thrill of a real adventure. The Elewana Collection understands this; we provide more than fresh cotton sheets, elegant rooms, and gourmet meals.

Responsible Tourism

Responsible tourism is a key focus for each and every Elewana Collection property, be it revenue-sharing projects that support local conservancies, sponsorship of schools, students and medical clinics, or responsible recycling of waste materials. Property managers are passionate about their local environments and communities, and constantly strive to find new and sustainable eco-friendly ways to protect and support them. All Kenya-based properties are members of Ecotourism Kenya, the majority achieving the highest eco-accolade of a Gold Eco-rating. Five of our Kenyan properties have attained a Silver Level International Eco-Rating with Sustainable Travel International. All Elewana properties in Tanzania have been certified with either SEED or SAPLING eco rating with Responsible Tourism Tanzania. We are full members of GSTC. The Global Sustainable Tourism Council (GSTC) establishes and manages global sustainable standards with the aim of increasing sustainable tourism knowledge and practices among public and private stakeholders.

Prime Locations

Each of our properties lies in an outstanding location, either within prime game viewing areas with spectacular views (often in completely private wildlife conservancies), on quiet world class white sand beaches or, in the case of Arusha Coffee Lodge, the prettiest and most convenient spot in Arusha.

Professional Guiding

Elewana Collection prides itself on its fun, experienced and knowledgeable guides. Most guides come from the local area and have an intimate knowledge of their surroundings - what makes each season different from the last and how the local wildlife families interact, grow and change from one year to the next. All guides are minimum Bronze KPSGA qualification, (or comparable in Tanzania), and many have achieved the prestigious Silver or Gold level.

Diverse Activities

Elewana Collection offers the complete bush and beach experience - game drives, guided bush & forest walks, horseback riding, camel trekking, lion tracking, fishing, cultural visits, spa treatments and massages, sundowners at sunset, surprise bush meals, scuba, snorkelling, kite surfing in warm tropical waters, starlit dinners on white sandy beaches and the experience of sleeping out under the African sky .

Small, Unique & Elegant Properties

Each of our camps, lodges, and beach hideaways has its own individual style and charm, offering experiences that make it completely unique from any other property. However, the properties of the Elewana Collection all share the same ethos - high quality management and professional service, attention to detail, delicious culinary creations, prime locations, small and intimate in size, and offering first class activities with a savvy blend of low-impact tourism.

Child Friendly

We encourage families to experience an East African safari as a wonderfully inspiring, educational and memorable family holiday. The local East African culture treasures children, and our activities and wildlife fascinate parents and children alike. Our small boutique properties allow for personalized and flexible mealtimes, and many of our properties also offer accommodation specifically designed for families.

Cultural Experiences

All of our properties employ most of their staff from the surrounding community, therefore guests have a chance to intimately encounter the fascinating cultures of that area. We encourage our guests to visit the local community and conservation projects where they can meet the people and experience, first-hand, how their stay at an Elewana Collection property makes a difference. Visits can be arranged to traditional villages, local homesteads and schools.

The Land And Life Foundation

AND ELEWANA

The Land & Life Foundation is the sustainability arm of the Elewana Collection, Cheli & Peacock Safaris, Sky Safaris, Sopa Lodges and Explorer. Working with communities and conservation projects in the areas surrounding Elewana's properties, the Land & Life Foundation supports local people and preserves the wildlife and habitats of these important landscapes. With all operational costs covered by the above named partners, 100% of every single donation from guests and philanthropists goes straight into benefiting the communities, schools and wildlife in the areas where we work.

www.landandlife.foundation

The Land & Life's vision is; A sustainable future where communities and wildlife thrive together across conservation areas, safeguarding our planet for the next generation.

Land and Life's Sustainability Ethos

At the Land & Life Foundation, our purpose is to ensure that sustainability and conservation best practices are employed across our group of companies and to ensure that we are active agents of change in the protection of Africa's environment and its communities through our programs and projects. We have 3 main pillars:

I. Environmental Management and Conservation

Overall Goal: To achieve net zero emissions and support efforts to ensure communities are actively participating in conservation efforts and directly reaping the benefits from this.

With our properties in some of the most biodiverse areas on the continent, Elewana embraces the responsibility of helping to protect both the habitat in which the wildlife live as well as specific vulnerable and endangered wildlife species. In both Kenya and Tanzania we have been pioneers in supporting what we call "Parks Beyond Parks" - conservation areas that lie outside of nationally protected parks. In total in both countries we play a key role in protecting land extending to over 1.36 million acres.

We are supporting operations in conservation areas across Kenya and Tanzania, including initiatives from anti-poaching in Amboseli and human-elephant conflict mitigation in Tarangire, to turtle conservation.

- Tortilis Camp, Elephant Pepper Camp and Tarangire Treetops have all been pivotal in driving the development of community-owned wildlife conservancies. In each case, the land outside of national parks and reserves has been secured solely for the preservation for wildlife, with lease, conservancy and/or bed night fees going directly to the owning/managing community. Community-owned wildlife conservancy models have proven incredibly effective, providing tangible benefits to communities in exchange for protection of wildlife areas.

- Tarangire Treetops is one of the largest contributors to the conservation projects of Randilen Wildlife Management Area, administered by Honeyguide Foundation. One of their most important projects is in human/wildlife conflict management, working to mitigate conflict between local farmers and elephants.

2. Impact Driven Community Development & School Support

Overall Goal: To improve the quality of life of the communities we operate in, whilst ensuring that they ultimately become the owners and managers of these efforts.

Elewana strongly believes that providing tangible benefits to communities living around protected areas is paramount to the sustainability of East Africa's wildlife and habitats. Most of these rural communities have access to poor education and health services, typically characterised by lack of supplies and facilities as well as stretched workforces with inadequate skills. We work with these rural communities to harness the power of nature to allow them to thrive, reduce human-wildlife conflict and ensure protection of the environment. Through working with our partners, we aim to provide a reliable source of water for the local communities including livestock and wildlife, as well as providing skills and infrastructure to tackle food insecurity through regenerative agriculture.

In addition, passion for wildlife conservation cannot exist without knowledge about wildlife. The Land & Life Foundation continues the commitment to educate the next generation of conservationists, to build a passion for wildlife in East Africa's key conservation areas and to inspire the communities we work with to conserve East Africa's wildlife for generations to come.

3. Social Enterprise Growth

Overall Goal: Meaningfully impact the lives of people living with disabilities as well as those from economically underserved communities to enable them to become a positive force for change.

Combining a dual mission of generating profits whilst also maximising benefits to society and the environment, social enterprises have the potential to bring about transformative societal benefits. Land & Life makes a concerted effort to support these organisations which provide sustainable employment opportunities to individuals with disabilities and from economically underserved communities. This is done through providing opportunities in all our properties to sell their wares in our gift shops, as well engage in partnerships to improve current offerings as well as create new products and services.

Our key project, Shanga (shanga.org), based at one of our properties in Tanzania, operates in a circular value chain with the belief that everyone, regardless of their abilities or disabilities, should have the opportunity to contribute to society and lead fulfilling and dignified lives. Firstly, it provides an opportunity for individuals with disabilities to become self-sufficient and independent, as well as build their self-esteem and confidence. Additionally, it helps to break down social stigmas surrounding disabilities by promoting the abilities and strengths of the individuals.

The Shanga Foundation

AND ELEWANA

“Kindness is a language blind people see and deaf people hear.”

This famous quote by Mark Twain is close to everyone's heart at Shanga. It is painted on our wall and is one of the first things you see as you enter the workshop.

Shanga is a self-sustaining social enterprise based in Arusha, the gateway to the Northern Tanzania safari circuit, which runs an interactive creative workshop employing people with disabilities to create beautiful products.

Shanga began with beads and marbles on a kitchen table, fourteen years later it has evolved into a workshop with seven creative departments and over 50 employees, over half of whom have some form of disability. Shanga provides a safe, secure and loving environment by providing training and skills development within a nurturing work environment. This enables those employed there to proudly have a successful career showcasing their creativity and support their families while doing so. This is reflected in the smiles and vibe within the workshop.

Shanga is also committed to preserving our sensitive environment, using recycled materials in numerous innovative and ingenious ways. In 2018, over 100 tonnes of waste was diverted from landfill and used in creating their products. The Glass Department consumes the most recyclable materials by using bottles and window glass as the raw product and running the Glass Furnace on recycled vegetable cooking oil.

All visitors to Shanga are invited to take a free interactive tour to meet the staff, see their work and participate in fun free activities. Throughout the tour, which goes through all of the different creative areas, you are enthusiastically greeted with big, warm smiles and greetings in sign language, Swahili and English. Very quickly previous stereotypes are forgotten as “Ability” is the catchphrase used.

On our tours, first comes the weaving, full of looms, making a melodic ‘click-clack’ while producing a variety of soft, brightly coloured scarves, wraps, maasai shukas and blankets all made from locally grown cotton.

Then tailoring, where the underlying theme is to re-purpose fabric. A favourite is their delightful “mummy and baby” elephant cushions made from used mens’ business shirts (recycling is everywhere). The team is happy to receive your old shirts and if time permits custom make your own cushion. Next, step into the painting gallery, which is full of colour and animals dedicated to Tinga Tinga painting, a fun cartoon style developed by a Tanzanian artist in the late 1960's. Beading follows. Beads of all shapes sizes, including glass beads made from recycled wine and spirit bottles. All jewellery design concepts start with how to incorporate as many components that are made on site intertwined with traditional Maasai beading techniques while staying on trend for the worldwide market.

Shanga's highlight is that we have the first (and the only glass blowing facility) in Tanzania where a spectacular range of homeware and beads is created. This work space is silent apart from laughter, the roar of the furnaces and the sizzle of hot glass. The majority of the glass-blowers are deaf so their movements are perfectly choreographed, from a close working team. All the glass is made from recycled wine and spirit bottles; and broken window glass with the furnaces powered by recycled vegetable cooking oil.

The Tanzanian plastic ban had no impact on Shanga as we commenced making our own shopping bags from old newspapers and cardboard over twelve years ago in the aluminium area. Here you will also see the team using a variety of products, including recycled aluminium sheets and bottle caps to make mobiles and other very pretty things.

This amazing group of people have chosen to embrace life and focus on their abilities, who we are proud to have as part of our Elewana family. By including a visit to the workshop in your itinerary you will have the opportunity to support the staff and their families and join their conservation efforts by choosing a souvenir or gift with a story; “Art with a Heart”.

Clients worldwide can also support Shanga by purchasing their products. 2020 has seen Shanga develop and achieve a growth in international sales with some of this growth attributed to their relationship with DHL. Currently orders can be placed by emailing orders@shanga.org with the plan by early 2021 to have streamlined the process for customers with new catalogues.

Family & Multi-Generational Safaris

WITH THE ELEWANA COLLECTION

What could be more exciting for a child than spotting their first leopard, learning how to throw a Masai spear, roasting marshmallows over a camp-fire to the calls of distant lions, or seeing brightly coloured fish through goggles?

A family safari in East Africa is a holiday to be remembered for life. All of our properties welcome and accommodate children by offering flexible dining times, children's menus and most importantly, children's activities to help them see the wonders of Africa. In this way we ensure that every member of a family group gets the most out of their safari. Our guides love nothing more than introducing children to the world that they love so much, showing them the animals but also imparting knowledge and a love of Africa which will stick with them for life. Our guides will ensure that children have fun, grow an appreciation of their surroundings and encourage them to become the next custodians of this fragile part of our planet.

Amboseli Eco-System

AMBOSELI NATIONAL PARK

140km south of Nairobi, Amboseli National Park is the second most popular wildlife area in Kenya, famous for its large aggregations of elephants numbering over 1,600 at times. Amboseli is also well-known for its scenic beauty with a backdrop of the world's highest free-standing mountain, the snow-capped Mount Kilimanjaro.

Amboseli National Park covers 392km<sup>2</sup>, which constitutes less than 5% of the entire 8100 km<sup>2</sup> ecosystem of the Amboseli basin crossing from Kenya into Tanzania. The lush green wetlands in this otherwise dry area make Amboseli National Park one of the best wildlife-viewing areas on the planet, attracting over 600 species of birds including pelicans, kingfishers, crakes, hammerkops and 47 types of raptors as well as the African elephant, cape buffalo, impala, hyena, giraffe, zebra, gazelle and wildebeest with lion and cheetah among the big cats that roam the area.

Most Amboseli lodges are based in the middle of the National Park (or outside the eastern gate) and so the majority of visitors only game drive within 10% of the park. Tortilis Camp is located in a pristine area on the southwest border of the park, famous for having the best views of Mount Kilimanjaro. While game driving, guests have access to both the National Park and the private 121 km<sup>2</sup> Kitirua Wildlife Conservancy.

Elewana Tortilis Camp

Location

Kitirua Private Conservancy, bordering Amboseli National Park.

Accommodation

- 16 spacious en suite tents ~ 9 doubles and 7 twin (32m<sup>2</sup>)
- 1 Private House ~ 2 en suite bedrooms (1 double and 1 triple) with a shared lounge and dining area (140m<sup>2</sup>)
- 1 Family Tent ~ 2 en suite bedrooms (1 double and 1 twin) with a shared verandah (82m<sup>2</sup>)
- Maximum Capacity ~ 49 guests

Description

Tortilis Camp has a prime location for witnessing the majesty of Africa's highest mountain, Kilimanjaro.

Tortilis Camp is named after the flat-topped, umbrella thorn tree, the Acacia Tortilis, and embraces a hill in one of Amboseli's areas of Acacia Tortilis woodland. Located in a private conservancy bordering the national park, game drives, walks, sundowners and bush meals take place both inside the national park and in the conservancy, where guests enjoy exclusivity.

The tents are all spacious, with king or twin beds and elegant en suite bathrooms. There is a main lounge, bar and dining area, all exquisitely built with natural materials and thatched roofs, with magnificent views of Kilimanjaro. The Private House and Family Tent are located slightly separate to the main camp, upon the hill where they share a pool and enjoy magnificent views of Kilimanjaro.

Tortilis Camp was one of the first eco-lodges of its size, and is very proudly 100% solar. Guests can rest assure they are leaving a minimal footprint during their stay.

Unique Selling Points

- Unrivalled views of Mt. Kilimanjaro ~ An elegant small lodge nestled on the side of Liimbarishi Hill with magnificent views across the plains to the highest free-standing mountain in the world.
- Habituated elephant herds ~ Amboseli is home to elephant families that have been closely followed and studied by world renowned researcher Cynthia Moss for over 40 years. Tortilis' guides know the elephant families and their histories intimately. These are some of the biggest elephants in Africa, as they have been protected for generations.

- Private Amboseli ~ Tortilis is set away from other lodges, on the unspoilt and quiet western boundary of the National Park, closest to the mountain. From the camp guests have full access to the famous Amboseli National Park, as well as exclusive access to 121 Km<sup>2</sup> of Kitirua private conservancy. In the Conservancy guests can enjoy game drives, walks and bush breakfasts and, with off-road driving permitted, the guides have the ability to create unparalleled photographic opportunities, as well as much more frequent and higher quality encounters with big game than in the National Park. Please note that the Kitirua Conservancy has strict restraints on the type of vehicles allowed into the Conservancy. Full Board guests are able to use their own vehicles within Amboseli National Park, however, to enter the conservancy, they will need to use a Elewana Tortilis Camp vehicle, which will be chargeable.
- “Little Tortilis” ~ Tortilis' luxurious “Private House” and “Family Tent” are located at the top of the hill, separate to the main tents, with views of the mountain and sharing a private infinity swimming pool.

Meru National Park

MERU NATIONAL PARK

Meru National Park, wild and remote, traverses the Equator to the east of Mount Kenya and the Nyambeni Range. Meru forms part of a larger conservation area covering 1500 Km<sup>2</sup> including the adjoining Kora, Rahole and Bisanadi Reserves.

The park was brought to fame in the 1960s through Joy Adamson's best-selling book, Born Free, the true story about Elsa the lioness. A gem in the KWS portfolio, Meru National Park is a semi-arid park boasting 13 permanent rivers and springs, which meander through otherwise dry terrain, flanked by a rich vegetation of doum and raphia palms. The natural habitats of Meru are therefore incredibly diverse, varying from dense thickets and lush riverine forest, to wooded grasslands and open plains.

Meru's rich wildlife diversity includes rare species specific to Northern Kenya, such as Grevy's zebra, gerenuk, Somali ostrich, reticulated giraffe, as well as buffalo, elephant, hippo, lion, cheetah and leopard. Caracal, lesser kudu and greater kudu are all exceptional and rare species also found in Meru.

The park also incorporates an 84 Km<sup>2</sup> rhino sanctuary, making Meru one of the prime destinations to see rhinos in their natural habitat. The birdlife in Meru and Samburu is extraordinarily colourful and abundant with over 450 species of birds.

Elsa's Kopje's guests have virtually the entire park to themselves. Elsa's Kopje remains one of the most elegant lodges in Africa, with a truly exceptional setting on top of Mughwango Hill above George Adamson's original campsite, offering breath-taking 360° views of the surrounding volcanic plains.

Description

Loisaba is a 230km<sup>2</sup> private wildlife conservancy, under the new ownership and management of the Loisaba Community Trust, and supported by The Nature Conservancy. A beautiful landscape with springs, plains, valleys and views, and the great Ewaso Nyiro River, it is an important elephant haven.

Poised on a rocky kopje, the Star Beds command sweeping views over an undulating valley and a permanent waterhole, frequented by resident wildlife.

Hand-crafted four-poster wooden beds sit on raised wooden platforms jutting out from a thatched-roof accommodation and are rolled out each night for guests to sleep under the endless African sky. Rustically designed to complement the surrounding environment, each star bed is individually built in harmony with the natural rocky features, incorporating a sitting area, and open plan bathroom with a view.

A team of traditional Samburu & Laikipiak Masai warriors welcome and host you with their customary warm African hospitality. A day of fun on Loisaba is rounded off with drinks by the log fire in the Star Beds lounge, sharing tall tales of the African bush, with the tale-telling continuing over a delicious shared dinner.

Lewa Wildlife Conservancy

LEWA WILDLIFE CONSERVANCY

Spanning 251 km<sup>2</sup>, the world famous Lewa Wildlife Conservancy supports over 440 bird species and more than 70 different mammals which roam the open grasslands at the foot of Mt Kenya.

Inscribed as a UNESCO World Heritage Site in 2013, Lewa Wildlife Conservancy has created a much emulated model of collaborative conservation involving multiple stakeholders, in particular the surrounding local communities. Originally a cattle ranch owned by the Craig family, Lewa welcomed its first rhino in 1984 and has since become renowned for its incredibly successful rhino conservation program. Its rhino population has grown steadily, not only restoring local numbers but enabling black rhino relocation and reintroduction in regions where they had long been absent. The conservancy currently holds over 10% of Kenya's black and 15% of Kenya's white rhino population as well as the largest single population of the critically-endangered Grevy's zebra in the world. With corridors open to the north, elephant, lion, leopard, cheetah and giraffe, to name but a few species, move freely in and out of this protected area and onwards to the greater Laikipia ecosystem. Huge herds of elephant migrate between the conservancy and the forests of Mt Kenya via a safe corridor created in 2010/2011.

Elewana Lewa Safari Camp and Elewana Kifaru House are both located in secluded areas within Kenya's most successful wildlife conservancy.

The Masai Mara

MASAI MARA NATIONAL RESERVE

The Masai Mara, in the southwest of Kenya, is famous for its astounding variety of wildlife. With both resident and transient populations of lion, leopard, cheetah, hyena, giraffe and elephant, to name a few, as well as over 500 bird species, the vast fertile plains are dense with game.

The area has been classified among the “Seven Wonders of the World” due to the extraordinary annual migration from July to November when over 1.3 million wildebeest and zebra cross between the Serengeti to the Masai Mara in search of greener pastures.

The Masai Mara National Reserve itself, measuring 1510 Km<sup>2</sup>, is part of the Greater Mara-Serengeti Ecosystem, much of which falls under ownership of Masai pastoralist communities. Some of the ecosystem's prime game viewing lies within the conservation areas surrounding the Reserve. These conservancies have been set up by the private sector in partnership with local Masai landowners to conserve the larger Masai Mara ecosystem by extending the protection area for wildlife and standardizing income distribution and eco-system management.

Elephant Pepper Camp was fundamental in founding the 283 Km<sup>2</sup> Mara North Conservancy (MNC), one of the largest community and private sector managed conservancies in the world. Regarded as one of Kenya's most successful conservation models, Mara North Conservancy is an exclusive safari destination in a prime wildlife area. Elephant Pepper Camp is a small and exclusive camp, located away from other lodges, in the heart of the Mara North Conservancy.

Sand River Masai Mara has a quiet, secluded and private location in the southern area of the Masai Mara National Reserve, bordering the Serengeti National Park. Directly positioned on the annual wildebeest and zebra migration route, the camp is in the heart of the migration during the season. The Sand River, from which the camp gets its name, is a small rocky river flowing past the camp, offering serene views from every tent.

Elewana Elephant Pepper Camp

Elephant Pepper Camp is one of Kenya's original, very small and exclusive tented camps, located away from other lodges in the pristine Mara North Conservancy. For those wanting to step off the world for a while and lose themselves in unspoilt nature in the heart of the Kenyan bush, Elephant Pepper Camp is the perfect place to indulge this whim and to explore the marvels of the natural world.

Nestled in a lush thicket of Elephant Pepper trees overlooking open grasslands frequented by herds of game, Elephant Pepper Camp maintains a rustic luxury and authenticity of a traditional safari from yesteryear. Spacious canvas tents are elegantly furnished with Raj campaign furniture, and enjoy comfortable en suite bathrooms.

Nothing rivals sitting around the campfire listening to the sounds of the African night. Enjoying extended game drives with our highly knowledgeable and qualified guides, guests participate in the most unique wildlife experience in the world. Elephant Pepper Camp brings people to the heart of the wilderness - no traffic, no permanent structures, just the sights and sounds of the African bush.

Unique Selling Points

Game driving is restricted to those vehicles belonging to lodges within the Conservancy, so Elephant Pepper guests have this outstanding part of the Masai Mara, almost to themselves. Within Mara North Conservancy is Leopard Gorge, famed for being the home of several feline characters from BBC's Big Cat Diaries.

- The grass around the camp is very high in salts, especially near the honeymoon tent where there are natural springs in the wetter times, so this attracts a lot of elephant that are free to roam around the camp at night time.
- The camp overlooks the vast open plains, teaming with game, especially during the migration.
- Here you experience the bush as one should: it is a personal experience with a very homely atmosphere, where we all eat together and share the beauty of the surroundings while relaxing around the campfire.

Often from the privacy and comfort of your verandah you can steep yourself in this wildlife spectacle and feel a part of this natural phenomenon.

Tarangire Eco-System

TARANGIRE NATIONAL PARK

Covering an area of 2850 km<sup>2</sup>, the Tarangire National Park is named after the perennial river that runs through the heart of the park. The park is only a part of a greater eco-system incorporating Manyara National Reserve and community conservancies, known as Wildlife Management Areas.

During the dry season the Tarangire River becomes a sole source of water for many wildlife, and the area becomes host to a migration of animals seeking out the lush green pastures. During these months, the game viewing is exceptional with wildebeest, zebra, buffalo, eland, lesser and greater kudu to name a few, as well as the usual predators of lion, leopard and hyena. The park also has a very healthy population of elephant, with up to 3,000 in the park during the dry months.

Tarangire National Park is often neglected on safari itineraries along the northern route, in favour of the better known Serengeti and Ngorongoro Crater. As such, people who do opt to visit this gem of a park are treated to an exclusive safari experience with fantastic game viewing, away from the hustle and bustle of the crowds.

Tarangire Treetops is located in a private 312 km<sup>2</sup> Wildlife Management Area adjoining the park, called Randilen. The landscape of Tarangire is instantly recognisable by its magnificent baobab trees, dotted throughout the area. Tarangire Treetops offers a one-of-a-kind experience, with rooms built onto elevated platforms to look over the branches of these beautiful baobabs - creating the feel of a luxury treehouse.

The camp has easy access to both the National Park as well as the conservancy. Within the conservancy guests are able to enjoy bush walks and night drives, giving the opportunity to experience nature in a unique and different way to the customary game drive.

Ngorongoro Conservation Area

THE NGORONGORO CRATER

Famous for the breathtakingly-impressive Ngorongoro crater, the area is part of the volcanic mountain highlands of northern Tanzania. Eighteen kilometres in diameter, the crater is a “caldera” formed at a time of volcanic eruption, and now home to abundant wildlife. The rim of the crater is a lush, cool and dewy mountain forest with coffee plantations leading up to the conservation area boundary. The crater floor of open grasslands allows uninhibited viewing of the plentiful wildlife.

Together with the Serengeti National Park, this area is a UNESCO World Heritage Site and the crater is unofficially an “Eighth wonder of the world”.

Visitors to the crater follow a specific procedure, carefully controlled by the park authorities, of climbing down the steep crater walls in the early morning to the grasslands - home to a myriad of wildlife species on the crater floor - and departing the crater by mid-afternoon. The unique nature of this area has made it a favourite safari destination.

The Manor at Ngorongoro is within a working coffee farm bordering the crater rim forest. Set amongst beautiful gardens and green coffee fields, guests have easy access to the wonders of the Ngorongoro Crater, and the lodge can provide a unique private picnic lunch experience on the crater floor.

Lions, elephants, buffalo, impala, cheetah, black rhinos, serval cat, hyena, jackal and zebra to name just a few.
- Lake Manyara National Park has an astounding variety of landscape for the relatively small national park that it is. From dense forest and open grassland, to soda lake wetlands and acacia woodlands. In each variety of landscape unique animals are found, from bushbuck and blue monkeys in the forest, antelopes and cheetahs in the grasslands, hippos and flamingos in the wetlands, and tree-climbing lions and elephants in the acacia woodlands.

Serengeti Eco-System

SERENGETI NATIONAL PARK

Serengeti National Park is at the heart of the greater Serengeti ecosystem, which is defined by the area covered during the annual wildebeest migration. The area borders the Ngorongoro Conservation Area, all 5280 km<sup>2</sup> of which was declared a World Heritage Site in 1979.

On the plains of the Serengeti National Park, approx. two million wildebeest and zebra migrate annually across this vast area following the weather patterns in search of grazing and water. The herds tend to congregate and calve in the southern part of Serengeti from January to March, before beginning the northern trek into the northern Serengeti plains and the Masai Mara in Kenya before looping back again - this leg of the epic journey occurring between April and December.

A dramatic volcanic and verdant landscape, the Serengeti is a permanent home to a plethora of other wildlife which can be viewed year round. One of the few remaining places to view black rhino in its natural habitat, the Serengeti offers the chance to view all of the Big 5. Its abundance of animals has seen the Serengeti as the subject of and location for many wildlife documentaries over the years.

Serengeti Pioneer Camp has a wonderfully secluded location overlooking the Moru Kopjes in central Southern Serengeti. It has good access to the wildebeest migration for most of the year, particularly in the calving season. Areas of special interest are the Moru Kopjes with their prehistoric paintings and musical rocks, and Lake Magadi, home to flocks of flamingos.

Serengeti Migration Camp is in central Northern Serengeti. In a quiet, less visited part of the Serengeti, the area feels wonderfully private. Serengeti Migration Camp is in an ideal location to enjoy the Serengeti's wildlife, while also having easy access to the Mara River during the northern migration season.

Description

Serengeti Pioneer Camp is perched on a rocky outcrop in Southern central Serengeti and affords dramatic views of the Serengeti plains that drift endlessly into the horizon. Close to Moru Kopjes, it is a site originally chosen by world renowned researcher and film maker, Alan Root.

A camp designed for limited impact on its natural surroundings, Pioneer Camp has the feel of a 1930s mobile safari camp, but with all the modern day amenities of a luxury camp. The 12 tents are tastefully decorated in Campaign-style safari furniture, with en suite bathrooms offering steaming hot solar-heated showers. Each tent has a personal room attendant to look after guests' needs. Ensconced among the natural bush, the tented suites offer a truly back-to-nature feel.

The views from the bar and lounge are spectacular, providing the most memorable and convenient safari sundowner location.

Unique Selling Points

- Southern migration ~ During January to March the migration is making its way through the southern route of the journey. In the months of January to February calving occurs, and some 400,000 wildebeest calves are born in a period of just a few weeks. This event attracts various predators, particularly lions. Serengeti Pioneer Camp is located close enough to enjoy a full-day game drive to view this natural phenomenon, and then return to camp in its quiet private corner of the Serengeti.
- Private picnic site ~ Serengeti Pioneer Camp has special permission from the park authorities to use a private picnic site on top of a hill offering stunning views over the Serengeti plains, that can be enjoyed in total privacy. Pre-booking is necessary.

A geological phenomenon, musical sounds are produced when the rock is hit with smaller rocks. Ngong rock has been used as a communication tool for local Masai for centuries.
- Lake Magadi ~ A large soda lake accessible from camp, Lake Magadi is seasonally home to some few hundred flamingos, their pink masses a marvel to behold.
- Cheetah Conservation ~ The camp unofficially supports the Serengeti Cheetah Project, with the managers hosting talks for the guests on the latest cheetah research in the area. Guests are provided brochures for identifying the cheetah individuals in the area and encouraged to help by reporting sightings.

The allure of Zanzibar is legendary. Historically one of East Africa's great trading centres, the archipelago has for centuries been a crossroads of culture and a melting pot of exotic influences; where Africa, India and Arabia meet.

The Zanzibar archipelago is made up of numerous islands and islets. Each of the two main islands, Unguja (informally Zanzibar) and Pemba, has its own distinct character.

The name Zanzibar is synonymous with images of pristine white sandy beaches, and alluring azure waters. The coastline is laced with winding creeks and mangroves, interspersed by these heavenly beaches. The sea is awash with magnificent creatures and dazzling colours, discoverable by snorkelling, scuba or scenic boat trips. Dolphins, whales, sea turtles and vibrant fish are some of the amazing creatures found in the Zanzibar waters.

Time has stood still here, as the white-washed stone buildings, winding alleys and local people exist as they have done for centuries. It is known for its cultural heritage, a still-living and breathing testament to the historical era of the spice and Arabic slave trade.
