Kindly note that these recommendations are considered reliable choices, which may not always be the most glamorous, but that's the essence of road trips and exploring the open road.

Johannesburg

Seattle Ermelo

Around two hours into the trip from Johannesburg, a reliable option to stop off for excellent coffee. Here is the google map link

Mugg & Bean Ermelo

Also in Ermelo; the coffee is good but not as good as Seattle, however the food options are more plentiful. Here is the google map link

Nandos Mkhondo

A good halfway break spot. Mostly a chicken restaurant but with good options for vegetarians and vegans. Here is the google map link

Wimpy Mkhondo

Also in Mkhondo, Wimpy is an essential South African road trip place. The food is not amazing but solid. Here is the google map link

Jozini Tiger Lodge

Around five hours into the trip and overlooking the spectacular Jozini Dam, this is a nice spot if you have time. Good view and solid food. Here is the google map link.

Durban

Zamimpilo market

Remember to bring cash with you as this is an essential stop off should you wish to buy seasonal fruits or specialist zulu crafts. Here is the google map link

Mugg & Bean / Steers N2

Around 30 minutes after Zamimpilo is the Total N2 which has a Mugg & Bean and Steers. Fast food options and coffee, not the best place. Here is the google map link

Ngweni Brewery Hluhluwe

If you feel like taking it easy en route to camp, this stop off is a nice micro-brewery with a nice cafe and great craft market. Here is the google map link
