Pet Policy

- Pets are welcome on the Taaibosch Estate.
- To ensure a seamless stay, please inform your reservations agent that you will be travelling with your pet.
- Regrettably we only allow dogs smaller than knee height.
- As this is a working wine estate situated in a mountainous habitat, pets stay at their own risk, and they must always be supervised when exploring the estate and when in public areas.
- The estate cannot be held liable for any veterinarian expenses incurred for injuries sustained by the pet during its stay on the estate.
- The estate cannot be held liable for injury or death caused to the pet because of an attack from wild animals or other domestic animals residing on the estate.
- The estate cannot be held liable for injury or death caused to the pet because of an accident following an encounter with machinery or motor vehicles travelling on the estate.
- The estate cannot be held liable for pets which are lost on the estate, or which wander beyond the borders of the estate.
- Any resource disbursed by the estate on behalf of the customer, to search for or recover a pet, will be for the account of the patron and will be billed after the stay.
- Additional costs for special cleaning services and damages may apply.

House Rules

- Please refrain from sleeping on the couches in the living spaces, as per our request. Each villa is equipped with designated bedrooms. Please ensure that your sleeping arrangements align with the number of beds provided in each villa.
- The linen and towelling must be handled with the greatest of care. Should linen be damaged beyond repair, the guests will be responsible for associated charges.
- It's essential not to leave the outdoor lounge, dining, and seating area cushions outside in the rain, as exposure to moisture can lead to damage.
- We request that you avoid rearranging furniture, to prevent any damage or disruption to the villa's aesthetics. The villas are meticulously designed to provide the utmost in luxury and comfort.
- The pool cover must stay in the pool.
- Umbrellas must be closed and fastened should there be strong winds.
- All the villas are equipped with cutlery, crockery, glassware, serving dishes, cooking utensils and top of the range appliances for the comfort of the guests staying in the villas. The guests will be liable should any of these items including furniture be damaged or lost.
- All villas are strictly smoke free areas. Cigarette buds must be disposed of in the designated waste bins.
- Please avoid littering around the villa gardens. As an organic farm, the presence of artificial non-degradable items could potentially harm our surrounding ecosystem.
- Parties larger than the maximum occupancy of each villa will not be permitted without prior written consent from the Hospitality Manager.
- Music must be turned down by 23h00 as the noise travels throughout the valley and causes disruption.
- If the villa requires extensive cleaning beyond normal standards, a deep-clean will be arranged, and the guest will be responsible for associated charges.
- Kindly avoid removing the bathroom amenities, including body wash, shampoo, conditioner, and hand cream containers. Guests will be responsible for associated charges.
- Keys must be left in the house on departure. Should keys not be returned with the remote, the guest will be responsible for associated charges.
