SITATUNGA PRIVATE RESERVE | NORTHERN BOTSWANA

GREAT PLAINS

CONSERVING AND EXPANDING NATURAL HABITATS

Situated within the upper reaches of Botswana's Okavango Delta, the newly unveiled Sitatunga Private Island Suite embodies the visionary work of Dereck Joubert, the CEO of Great Plains, and boasts interior design by Beverly Joubert, the co-founder of Great Plains.

Crafted atop an elevated, encompassing platform constructed entirely from recycled materials, this private and exclusive use two-bedroom suite offers an exclusive retreat. It forms a part of the latest water-based Réserve-Collection Safari Camp, capable of accommodating up to four adults or a family of two adults and 3 children sharing.

The design of the Sitatunga Private Island Suite weaves a narrative that pays homage to the Okavango's aquatic expanse, evoking the essence of a Robinson Crusoe-like adventure amidst surrounding waters. Echoing the indigenous fishermen's practices spanning over two centuries, who utilized reeds to fashion funnel-shaped fishing baskets and traps, Dereck Joubert ingeniously translated this tradition into the suite's structural concept. Here, the living spaces emulate tents suspended within colossal bamboo fishing baskets. The interior aesthetics harmonize with the colour palette that mirrors the Okavango's panoramic views – misty greens and sun-bleached woods.

While wood presents sustainability challenges in construction, Great Plains has impeccably navigated these concerns. The camp's development strictly refrains from utilizing freshly cut timber, relying solely on reclaimed or recycled wood sourced from prior cuts or repurposed railway lines. The Jouberts' commitment to environmental responsibility extends beyond construction, permeating all aspects of Great Plains. As such, the newly emerged Sitatunga Private Island Suite, paired with the 2 separate guest suites at Sitatunga Private Island, seamlessly integrate into the Okavango Delta's natural tapestry, invoking an evocative connection with its ancestral roots.

Diverging from the conventional Great Plains properties, this exquisite Réserve-Collection private 2-bedroom Suite pioneers ecological design benchmarks in Botswana's remote expanse. Simultaneously, it extends the epitome of hospitality and opulent accommodations, complemented by an array of captivating wilderness activities.

Described by Dereck Joubert as an extraordinary sanctuary, the Sitatunga Private Island Suite stands as a private refuge where guests can marvel at the elusive sitatunga, a rare aquatic antelope, both from the comfort of their suites or private deck while embarking on boat journeys along the nearby channels of the Okavango Delta – a focal activity. Nestled deep within the Okavango Delta, this locale thrives in avian diversity, offering a haven for birding enthusiasts. Sitatunga Private Island Suite beckons individuals, families or a small group of friends travelling together to embrace a leisurely pace, indulging in walks and tranquil river experiences. Because, like the river, it is not about the water itself but the journey.

Sitatunga Private Island Suite is a proud member of Relais & Châteaux

GREAT PLAINS FOUNDATION INITIATIVE Project Ranger

Through Project Ranger Great Plains supports the anti-poaching operations of NGOs across Africa. Project Ranger focuses on those on the front lines of conservation, filling critical gaps and supporting wildlife monitors, rangers, and the anti-poaching operations in Africa. Because poaching and trafficking continues to threaten wildlife across Africa and many rangers continue to be woefully under-resourced, Project Ranger's work and grant-making emphasizes ensuring rangers have the resources they need to do their best work in conservation and trafficking hotspots.
