CONSERVATION & POSITIVE IMPACT ADVENTURES

Each activity contributes to ongoing research, protection of vulnerable species, and sustainable management of the reserve—turning engagement into purpose and impact into hope.

- Hands-On Conservation Activities: Guests are invited to participate in meaningful, hands-on conservation experiences designed to deliver a lasting impact and deepen connection with the natural environment. Activities are guided by the evolving needs of the reserve and may include: Fence patrols, alien plant eradication, clearing bush debris, monitoring selected species, supporting active management projects
- Down to the Wire Partnership: A highlight of the program is our collaboration with Down to the Wire, a conservation initiative that transforms recovered snares into symbolic jewelry.

Guests can:

- Participate in workshops to craft unique pieces from reclaimed wire;
- Purchase jewelry that directly supports wildlife rescue operations, funding essential medical treatment for snare-injured animals

CONSERVATION AND BED LEVIES

A safari in Africa offers a privileged opportunity to experience wildlife in its natural habitat—an experience closely linked to the conservation efforts that sustain these ecosystems. By participating in a safari, you become part of this ongoing effort, contributing to the preservation of Africa's unique wildlife and ensuring future generations can continue to enjoy these wonders.

In line with neighboring reserves, we have significantly enhanced our anti-poaching strategies, requiring substantial investment. Our primary goal is to protect vulnerable species, including rhinos, that call this region home. To support these ongoing efforts, all reservations include applicable conservation and/or bed levies.
The conservation levy, charged per person, per night or per stay (depending on the camp), plays a vital role in maintaining the reserve's pristine condition. These funds support critical initiatives such as anti-poaching measures, road maintenance, invasive plant eradication, and fire break management.

The bed levy contributes to infrastructure maintenance within the reserve, ensuring well-maintained roads and trails that support a safe and enjoyable experience while minimizing environmental impact. A portion of the bed levy also funds conservation education programs, raising awareness and fostering a sense of responsibility towards preserving the region's natural heritage.

FUN FACTS|

Khanya partners with active wildlife research projects, meaning guests often share the landscape with scientists tracking big cats, elephants, and endangered species.
