

KINARA

Built for the wild. Shaped around the way you see it.

Our open safari vehicle brings you close to the Mara, its golden grasses, its sounds, its quiet encounters at an easy, unhurried pace.

Every Kinara vehicle is custom-built and thoughtfully fitted out by our own team. Each detail has been considered so that you can settle in, feel cared for, and give your full attention to the plains and all that moves across them.

The Mara, unframed

Open to every horizon

Open on all sides, our vehicles let the Mara reach you just as it is. The rustle of tall grass, the warmth of early light, the call of a bird on the breeze.

A windscreen that folds away

The front windscreen latches down, so even the view ahead is yours to take in, with nothing in between.

Soft side panels

Canvas side panels roll up to open the view and roll down to shelter you when the weather turns.

Canvas bucket seats

Each vehicle welcomes up to six guests, everyone with their own comfortable, supportive seat and an open view of the plains, made for long, unhurried hours in the field.

Custom steps

Purpose-built steps make climbing aboard easy and graceful, whether at first light or after a sundowner.

Small comforts, thoughtfully placed

Thoughtful seat pockets keep your essentials close, and a drinks holder keeps your refreshment steady on the move. An onboard refrigerator holds chilled beverages, a Nespresso machine is ready for a fresh coffee in the bush, and there are snacks for when the morning stretches on. Charging sockets keep your camera and phone ready for the next sighting.

Prepared, so you need not be

Mornings in the Mara begin cool and soften into warmth as the sun climbs. Our fleece-lined rain ponchos keep you warm on those early starts, so there is no need to bundle up in layers, and keep you dry should a shower pass through. Sunscreen, insect repellent and hand sanitiser are on hand for the rest of the day.

Tools for curious minds

Nikon binoculars bring distant moments close. Wildlife books and a map of the Maasai Mara travel with you too, so you can put a name to what you see and trace where the day has taken you.

Let the Mara come to you

Your expert guide will shape each drive around you, the animals you hope to meet, the light you want to catch, the pace that feels right.
