Quito

A Timeless City of Heritage, Cradled by Clouds and Volcanoes.

Quito was the first city in the world to be declared a UNESCO World Cultural Heritage Site, in recognition of its exceptional Historic Center — the largest, best preserved, and least altered in all of Latin America. This architectural treasure, nestled among the Andean mountains and dormant volcanoes, is a city where history lives in every street, church, and square.

At the heart of this patrimonial jewel, overlooking the Plaza de la Independencia, stands Hotel Plaza Grande —one of the very first homes built during the city's foundation and a privileged witness to the passage of time. More than just a hotel, it is a living part of Quito's history, welcoming those in search of an authentic experience imbued with elegance, culture, and memory.

Quito enchants with its eternal spring-like climate and a rich offering of art, gastronomy, spirituality, and adventure. From Hotel Plaza Grande, travelers are invited to immerse themselves in the soul of a magical city where tradition meets modernity, and legacy blends seamlessly with renewal.

Living History in the Heart of Quito.

The majestic Plaza Grande Hotel is located in the heart of Quito's Historic Center, in the emblematic Plaza de la Independencia. This iconic building is not only an architectural jewel, but also a living testimony of more than five centuries of history.

During the Spanish founding of the city, the site was granted to the famous conquistador Francisco Pizarro, becoming the first urban settlement of the nascent Andean capital in the sixteenth century. Since then, it has been the residence of the most illustrious families of Quito society, and in the early twentieth century, it became the first luxury hotel in Quito.

Its eclectic architecture broke with the symmetry of the colonial houses that surrounded it, marking a milestone in the urban evolution of the historic center. Today, this historic building offers a privileged location: from its balconies you can contemplate an unparalleled panoramic view of the Government Palace, the Metropolitan Cathedral, centennial domes, the Panecillo hill with its winged Virgin and the Municipal Palace.

Hotel Plaza Grande is not only a place to stay, it is an experience that connects past and present with elegance, authenticity and a deep vocation for the art of hospitality.

When guests cross the threshold of the Hotel Plaza Grande, they are greeted with an unmistakable fragrance: the Ecuadorian roses in the center of the lobby, considered among the most beautiful in the world, and a figure of the Virgin of Quito - a replica of the one that guards the city from El Panecillo hill - welcomes them as a symbol of protection and Quito tradition.

The hotel houses 15 finely decorated suites, each with a unique identity that combines period furnishings, local art and luxury amenities. These include Royal Suites and a majestic Presidential Suite, which embodies the ultimate expression of sophistication, privacy and comfort.

Each suite offers a privileged view of the Historic Center: balconies and large windows that frame the Plaza de la Independencia, the baroque domes, the colonial towers and the hills surrounding the city. An intimate, silent and deeply evocative atmosphere accompanies our guests on a journey into the soul of Quito, where rest is transformed into a sensory experience.

Here, hospitality is lived with details that honor tradition and the art of receiving.

A Culinary Journey Through Ecuador's History

Café Plaza Grande

Located in front of the majestic Plaza de la Independencia, Café Plaza Grande offers an authentic gastronomic experience in an environment full of natural light, thanks to its colonial architecture, large windows and wooden details that evoke the Quito tradition with warmth and elegance.

Its renewed menu celebrates the richness of Ecuadorian cuisine, inviting diners to explore, dish by dish, the most representative flavors of each region of the country. From the highlands to the coast, passing through the Amazon and the Galapagos Islands, each preparation is a tribute to local ingredients, ancestral techniques and Ecuador's cultural identity.

Traditional dishes and typical drinks -with a strong Quito accent- accompany this culinary proposal that transcends the gastronomic to become a cultural experience.

Café Plaza Grande is not just a restaurant: it is an invitation to be part of history and to savor the soul of a diverse country, from the heart of its heritage capital.

At Plaza Grande Hotel we highlight Quito's most ancient and rooted traditions and convert them into unique experiences for our guests. Holy Week and Easter are a good opportunity to blend two of these traditions. "Helados de Paila" are an ancestral way of preparing exotic Ecuadorian fruit juices stirred with crushed ice on large bronze pans, turning them into delicious and savory Sherbets. At our Hotel, these are a signature dessert which is served by a "Cucurucho", a character from our Spanish heritage that leads Good Friday's religious processions dressed in large purple gowns crowned by a tall purple bonnet in signal of penance for their sins.
