Our team absolutely loves to teach travellers about sustainable farming techniques, from alley cropping to grazing rotation and even to the home-made fertiliser and organic pesticide that are used. This difference is what motivates the community to also adopt methods that are not only cheaper and better for the environment but also provide a higher harvest yield. The Mukuni Community farm is on your way to Victoria Falls, so it is best to combine the tour with other town-based activities.

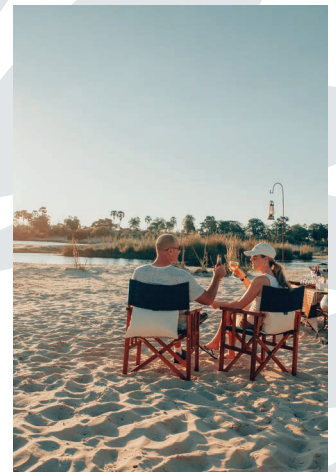

Tongabezi Strength

The gym has a television to pass time as well as Google Chrome to allow guests to cast their own workout app on the television.
