- Cancellation of booking after deposit being paid will result in deposit being forfeited.
- Balance payable 90days before travel for final confirmation
- Cancellation of all or part of the safari after balance paid and within 90 days of travel will incur a penalty of 50% of the safari cost.
- Cancellation of all or part of the safari after balance paid and within 45 days of travel will incur a penalty of 75% of the safari cost.
- Cancellation of all or part of the safari after balance paid and within 30 days of travel will incur a penalty of 100% of the safari cost.
- If you are part of a group safari and your cancellation would result in a cost adjustment for the other guests who have paid based on your participation in the safari, then, unless we get clearance from the other guests, you will be liable for the amount needed to cover this shortfall as well as your loss of deposit.

It is recommended for travel with Doug Macdonald's Safaris that you take out comprehensive travel insurance when you pay your deposit with a cancellation "for whatever reason" clause to protect you and notify us of the details of that package.

It is important to please always keep your belongings with you, especially those of a valuable nature as we cannot be held responsible for them should they be misplaced, left in a camp or stolen. Should items be left behind in a camp we will try our best to get them returned to you timeously, but the cost of the communications and possible air charter costs or freight will be for your account.

Roads and the terrain in Africa and while on safari can be harsh and it is possible that injuries to you and equipment damage might occur so Doug Macdonald's Safaris, its employees, camps, and facilities used will not be liable for any accidents or damage that might occur. Most places booked for whilst on safari in Africa are in remote and wild places with dangerous animals, harsh terrain and harsh weather, as such you will be exposed to potentially dangerous situations and activities whilst in Africa so Doug Macdonald's Safaris and Explore The Wilderness, it's employees, camps and facilities used will not be liable for any injury, loss of life or damage whatsoever either during or after your travel arrangements.

Whilst we are committed to ensuring that your travel arrangements go to plan and as agreed, Doug Macdonald's Safaris or the camps and facilities that we use reserve the right to alter, cancel or change travel arrangements at anytime without your prior consent or approval should they feel it justified in the interests of safety, enjoyment, and practical purposes for any of its guests or clients.

It is your responsibility to ensure that all your travel documents which include plane tickets, passports, visas and vaccination certificates are correct and valid for the countries you are travelling to or through. Any adjustments needed to your travel plans resulting from incorrect documentation will be for your account.

Doug Macdonald's Safaris also reserve the right in the case of a privately guided safari to change the guide, if possible, should there be unforeseen circumstances such as sickness, injury, or personal circumstances to the guide, making the guide un-fit to guide the safari. You will be notified of this situation and a suitable replacement or alternative arrangement will be made with you.

As part of our guest communications we will add your email address to our database to receive our quarterly newsletters, there is an option to unsubscribe on the newsletter.

It is assumed the deposit payment and your final amount paid is because you have agreed to the terms and conditions set out by Doug Macdonald's Safaris and the camps and facilities that we use and reserve on your behalf, and therefore will not hold liable any claim against any person or organization for any changes, cancellations, damage to one's property, injury, death or any unforeseen occurrences whether it is due to negligence by one or more of our staff or any company. Therefore, you have indemnified the various organizations and individuals mentioned above in any such event.
