

PROUDLY INTRODUCING

MBARAKA 'MUBA' MKWEPO

Raised in the southern highlands next to Selous Game Reserve (now Nyerere National Park), Muba's conservation calling emerged from his childhood connection to wilderness. This dedicated Ngoni tribesman completed Advanced Level Secondary education before joining Maasai Wanderings in 2009, speaking Swahili, English, and Ngoni while sharing his conservation passion with guests worldwide.

Tarangire National Park holds Muba's heart with its high concentration and incredible diversity of wildlife that creates endless safari magic. His fascination with spotted hyenas reflects his appreciation for intelligence and efficiency—these smart, efficient feeders deserve far more respect than they receive. The majestic African Fish Eagle inspires him with its unwavering specialization in fish prey, regardless of competition pressures.

Muba's most unforgettable safari moment showcases nature's harsh realities: watching a lioness and cubs cross the road when a leopard suddenly pounced to kill one cub, reducing territorial competition. These raw experiences fuel his conservation education mission. He encourages guests to prepare for the experience of a lifetime while embracing his vital message: keep educating humans about wildlife conservation efforts and awareness—knowledge is the key to protection.
