

Featherbed Co.

unforgettable natural real

Following the severe storm on the Garden Route yesterday, Featherbed has unfortunately taken some damage. The main area affected is the walking trail.

For guest safety and to ensure we can continue operating as smoothly as possible, we will be adjusting the Featherbed eco-tour slightly for the short term.

Guests will be driven to the top of the reserve and from there will walk to the viewing deck and afterwards return to the vehicle. The tour will then continue with guests enjoying an easy 1 km walk along the flat lagoon path and return to the restaurant.

In the longer term, Featherbed is planning to build a small bridge across the damaged section of the trail. We expect this to take approximately 1 to 2 months. Short term planning includes a temporary solution using stairs down to the beach, allowing guests to walk a short 10 m section along the beach before rejoining the trail. We hope to have this ready within the next two weeks.
