Boat trips OCEAN SAFARI, made to observe marine mammals, especially Megattere and sea fauna in general, in half a day in the presence of a marine biologist and a passionate certified guide, an association specialized in the protection of cetaceans of Madagascar. The two guides will allow viewers not only to observe, but to understand at the same time, what is happening at that time and above all details of behaviour and biology of these blowing giants; all in compliance with the current local laws and codes of approach so as not to disturb the whales in such a delicate phase of their life as mating and giving birth and making our visit sustainable. Approximately from October, whales leave the coast of Madagascar and at the same time we witness the arrival of the imposing whale shark. (possibility to snorkelling with)

Please Note: Whales are wild animals living in their natural habitat. While every effort is made to provide sightings, whale/shark sightings cannot be guaranteed.

In the event that whale watching is not possible, the program will be adjusted to include a snorkelling excursion on the way back to the hotel. We recommend bringing a swimsuit and towel.
